I was finding the sharepoint site to be impossible – cursor kept moving on its own volition and inserting edits in the wrong place. I tried to clean it up a bit, and got rid of the redlines in places where I made no additional edits for easier review. Could you take another look at what I did and let me know if you think it works? I know the program is struggling with some of the wording and I want to be sure I'm not messing anything up before sharing it further.

Thank you
